

HISTORY, PH.D.

---

Learning Outcomes

- Students will demonstrate competence in three fields of history.
- Students will produce significant contributions to scholarship prior to completing the dissertation.
- Students will produce important doctoral dissertations.
- Students who serve as graduate teaching assistants will develop competence as teachers.
- Students will become familiar with the employment options for which the Ph.D. in History is a valuable credential and will learn the paths most likely to lead to fulfillment of their individual career goals.