

MARINE SCIENCE, M.S.

Learning Outcomes

- Students will conduct independent scientific research at the graduate level.
- Students will demonstrate teaching skills.
- Students will communicate orally to demonstrate their ability to present scientific results clearly, logically, and critically.
- Students will communicate in writing to demonstrate their ability to present scientific results clearly, logically, and critically.
- Students will apply scientific methodology, quantitative problem-solving, and experimental techniques within the core areas of marine science.