Admissions

Graduate students are permitted to begin the Psychology Ph.D. program only in the Fall term. The application deadline is December 1st.

Applicants should have an undergraduate major in psychology or a closely-related discipline. Admission is highly competitive and is based upon the content of undergraduate and prior graduate courses taken in degree-seeking programs, performance in those courses (GPA of above 3.00 in all courses and above 3.50 in psychology coursework is preferable), letters of recommendation, writing samples, prior research involvement, and (for clinical-community psychology and school psychology programs) prior work and volunteer experiences relevant to the program practice area.
