

PHARMACEUTICAL SCIENCES, PH.D.

Learning Outcomes

1. Students will demonstrate knowledge and application of the theories, principles, and methods underlying the pharmaceutical sciences.
2. Students will be able to identify pertinent research problems and formulate a research plan.
3. Students will critically analyze relevant literature and communicate scientific findings through oral presentations.
4. Students will generate and analyze original research and communicate findings to the scientific community.