

NONDEGREE-SEEKING ADMISSION

Nondegree enrollment is available to those who possess at least a baccalaureate degree, have no specific degree objective and wish to take courses for personal interest, professional development, certification, or license renewal. Enrollment privileges will not be granted until all application requirements have been met. Nondegree students may take up to 12 credit hours. This privilege, when exhausted, may be renewed at the Graduate School's discretion. A graduate student who is academically suspended from a University degree program cannot enroll as a nondegree student without the approval of the dean of Graduate Studies.

Note: A non-degree student who later applies to a degree program may apply a maximum of six hours of non-degree credits to a degree program, and only with departmental approval.

Normally, international students may not enroll as nondegree students. On a case-by-case basis, international students may be permitted to enroll as nondegree students if: 1) they are in the United States on a valid visa that will not require the issuance of a new I-20 or DS 2019 by the University of South Carolina; or 2) they are participants in a special academic program recognized by The Graduate School.
