

INSTITUTIONAL DATA, EVALUATION, ACCREDITATION, STRATEGIC PLANNING

Institutional Data, Evaluation, Accreditation, and Strategic Planning

The Office of Institutional Data, Evaluation, Accreditation, and Strategic Planning plays a crucial role in data management and accreditation for the School of Medicine Greenville. This office is responsible for managing, analyzing, and reporting on performance and outcomes data across students, courses, and programs. It supports the development of robust data governance initiatives, collaborates on database development and dashboard reporting projects, and ensures the integrity of data through rigorous evaluation processes. The office also oversees the design and administration of program surveys and evaluations, supports the transition to new curricular structures, and partners with faculty and students on research in medical education.

In addition, the office is integral to the school's accreditation and strategic planning efforts. It manages the LCME accreditation process, oversees policy development and compliance, and collaborates with various committees to refine processes and procedures. By establishing clear relationships with other departments and providing comprehensive data support, the office ensures continuous quality improvement and strategic alignment with institutional goals. This holistic approach supports the long-term vision and short-term objectives of the School of Medicine Greenville.
