

CREATIVE WRITING MINOR

The creative writing minor provides students advanced training in specific genres of writing, such as poetry, fiction and creative nonfiction. Courses include creative writing classes and upper-level English classes, for a well-rounded introduction to the field of creative writing. This minor is especially beneficial to students with primary studies in theater and dance, media arts, marketing, public relations and journalism, among other fields.