MEDIA ARTS MINOR

The media arts program prepares students to work in modern media production through hands-on experience and an understanding of how successful media works. The minor exposes students to fundamental elements of media production and allows students to explore specific areas of interest including video and sound production, writing for print or screen and video game design.